7. Colonel Grogan mentioned that Sarah McLinden (?) has created quite a fuss in attempting to obtain the names of the members of the U. S. Intelligence Board. According to Colonel Grogan, she has queried him on several occasions, queried the Director following one of his congressional appearances, and raised the question at the President's news conference. Her most recent approach has been to Senator Styles Bridges who told her that he was on the Subcommittee that handled CIA matters and could see no reason why the names could not be made public and would look into it. Later in the day the names of USIB members were put out in a press release by Colonel Grogan.

8. Arthur Kuhl on the staff of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee called and asked if we had a stock statement on the question of whether the Director ever granted a personal interview to [redacted]. After checking with Colonel Grogan, Mr. Kuhl was given a copy of the statement which was released on 13 January indicating that the Director had seen [redacted] and that he gave him no information [redacted]. Mr. Kuhl thanked us for the information which he will use in a letter to a constituent who queried Senator Wiley on this point after previously raising the question with Richard Arens, HCUA, at a meeting at which he spoke.
